

ILLINOIS CRIMINAL JUSTICE INFORMATION AUTHORITY

2002 Annual Report

Rod R. Blagojevich, Governor
Candice M. Kane, Executive Director

To the Governor and the Honorable Members of the General Assembly:

Candice M. Kane

On behalf of the members and staff of the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority, I am pleased to present the Authority's fiscal year 2002 annual report. This report outlines the diverse nature of the agency's work in criminal justice research, grants administration, and information systems in Illinois.

The end of 2002 completed the Authority's 20th year. Prior to 1983, there was no organization in Illinois that, as part of its statutory charge, called for the key leaders of the criminal justice system and members of the public to come together on a regular basis to discuss and develop responses to issues confronting the parts of the system and the system as a whole. Instead, police chiefs, sheriffs, state's attorney's, defenders, clerks, and probation chiefs found it necessary to rely on their own resources when a problem arose. Problems which effected all law enforcement agencies or prosecutors or the courts were not routinely identified, analyzed, and discussed by a body representing the range and diversity of criminal justice agencies in Illinois. There was no established forum for state and local agencies to coordinate their work and discuss the impact of an action by one of the others. And no agency was charged with conducting short-term studies to answer or more fully describe questions related to the interests of justice system practitioners. In addition, victim service providers, critical partners of the system, were often overlooked, or were only included as an afterthought.

In response to these shortcomings, the Authority's enabling legislation laid the foundation for discussion of issues which are of interest to not just a single agency or component of the justice system but to multiple parts of the system, as well as to service providers, advocates, and members of the public.

We began with a budget of $1.1 million and a staff of 47. All but a few staff members were supported with general revenue. By FY02, our headcount had grown to 94 and our budget had increased to more than $136 million, largely due to increases in federal funds and users fees we received. Together, these funds comprise 88 percent of the agency's budget. Clearly, the federal grant programs administered by the Authority, starting with two in 1985 and increasing to nine this year, have had a substantial impact on the agency and the state, as our grant load has grown from 125 to 450.

As technology has advanced, so too have our information systems. Our cornerstone information systems for law enforcement – PIMS, ALERTS, and ALECS – have been hailed as groundbreaking, just as our newest system for victim service providers – InfoNet – is today. And the Authority's research staff continues to win national recognition for its work, adding two prestigious awards in 2002 to those received in past years.

The Authority's focus continues to be on bringing together people with different interests and knowledge bases and adding the results of data analysis and current research to their experience as practitioners and policymakers to address issues of common concern. To that end, the Authority has either convened or provided extensive staff support to nearly every major body formed to tackle a problem confronting Illinois' criminal justice system. This past year, the Authority partnered with the Illinois State Police in chairing and staffing the Integrated Justice Information Systems board, which produced a plan for integrating justice information systems in our state.

We look forward to continuing our partnership with the criminal justice community, the legislature, and the general public in fulfilling our mission of improving the administration of criminal justice in Illinois.

The committee studies and recommends regulations to ensure the privacy and security of criminal history record information as required by law.

Staff organization

While Authority members set priorities for the agency and monitor their progress, the day-to-day work is carried out by Authority staff, who come from a variety of backgrounds and disciplines.

At the end of fiscal year 2002, the Authority had an approved staffing level of 114 employees. To maintain diversity, the agency aggressively pursues equal employment opportunities. As of June 30, 2002, the Authority's workforce was 50 percent female, 50 percent male, 71 percent white, 17 percent African-American, 8 percent Asian, and 4 percent Hispanic.

Office of the Executive Director

The agency's executive director, who is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Illinois Senate, is responsible for the direction and administration of Authority staff. The executive director determines staff priorities and administers resources and programs needed to meet agency goals. The executive director also serves as liaison to the governor, General Assembly, Authority members, and state and national criminal justice officials and organizations.

Office of General Counsel

The general counsel provides legal services to the Authority, particularly in areas such as access to criminal justice information, privacy and security concerns, the Illinois Freedom of Information Act, and interagency funding agreements. The office directs the Authority's legislative program, and the general counsel serves as secretary to the Authority and the Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council. The general counsel also acts as chief of staff and, in the absence of the executive director, provides leadership, direction, and policymaking decisions for the Authority and its staff. The counsel also oversees the Office of Public Information.

Office of Administrative Services

The Office of Administrative Services is responsible for office security and the day-to-day general operations of the agency. This includes procurement of office equipment and supplies, telecommunications, inventory management, printing, and arrangements for meetings and travel.

Office of Fiscal Management

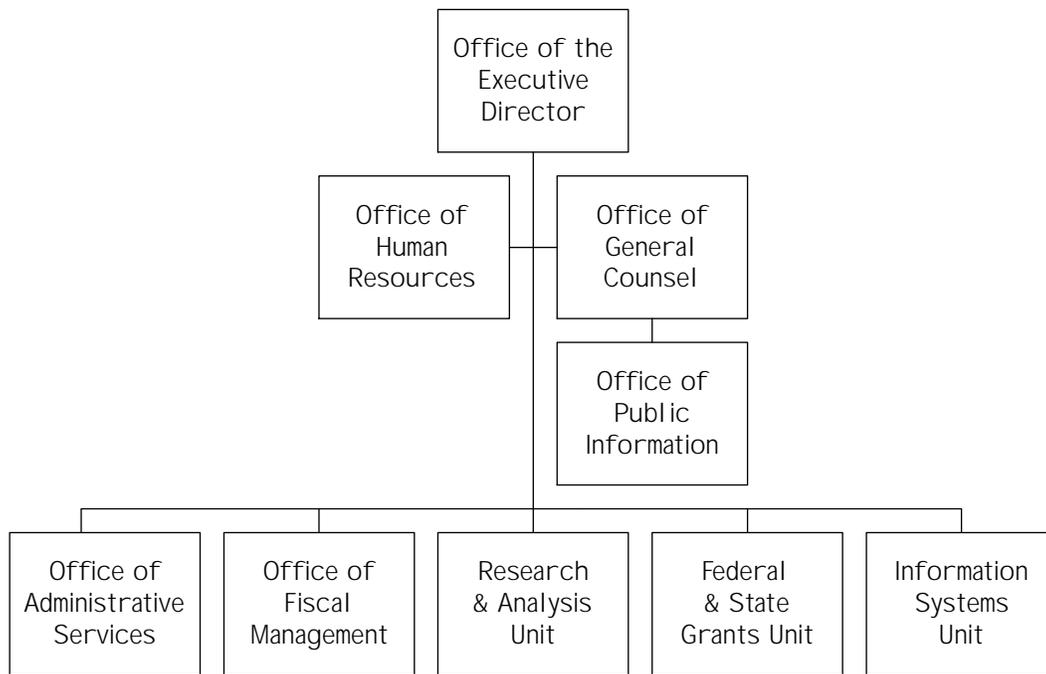

The Office of Fiscal Management formulates the Authority's annual budget, administers its financial transactions, and prepares mandated financial reports for the Office of the Comptroller, the U.S. Department of Justice, and other funding agencies. The office also oversees compliance with the Business Enterprise Program and the Fiscal Control and Internal Auditing Act.

Office of Human Resources

The Office of Human Resources develops and oversees compliance with mandated programs, and implements personnel policies. It also coordinates a variety of employee training initiatives, and administers employee benefit programs, compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, and the agency's annual Affirmative Action Plan.

Office of Public Information

The Office of Public Information manages media relations and external communications for the Authority. It oversees the editing, design, and production of research reports, brochures, a quarterly newsletter, the annual report, and other documents published by the Authority.

Information Systems Unit

The Information Systems Unit develops and manages the Authority’s computerized information systems, including the Area-wide Law Enforcement Radio Terminal System (ALERTS), Police Information Management System (PIMS), Automated Law Enforcement Communications System (ALECS), and the InfoNet. It also oversees the Authority’s integrated justice information system initiatives. The unit is responsible for software development, marketing, systems operations, and technical support. The unit also provides technical support for in-house systems and computer users.

Research & Analysis Unit

The Research & Analysis Unit conducts research that supports criminal justice policy and program development. The unit serves as an information clearinghouse for criminal justice statistics and research. In addition, it collects, analyzes, and disseminates information on the extent and nature of drug and violent crime in Illinois, and performs evaluations of crime control programs. It also develops statistical methodologies and provides statistical advice and interpretation to support criminal justice decision-making and information needs.

Federal & State Grants Unit

The Federal & State Grants Unit oversees federal and state assistance programs administered by the Authority, including eight federal initiatives, such as the Victims of Crime Act, the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988, and the Violence Against Women Act, and the state Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Act. The unit is responsible for developing program strategies, recommending programs to be funded, and monitoring awards.

Criminal justice planning initiatives

In 1999, the Authority began to develop a strategic criminal justice plan for Illinois as a means of identifying priorities and maximizing the use of limited resources. The plan would help guide the work of all Authority staff and set priorities for the allocation of federal grant funds administered each year.

The Authority brought together a broad array of criminal justice and social service professionals from across the state to develop the plan, and asked them to identify issues confronting the justice system and set goals and objectives. Nearly 150 criminal justice professionals and community service leaders attended a two-day planning assembly in June 2000. The work of that assembly was further refined through the efforts of six advisory committees and Authority staff. The Criminal Justice Plan for the State of Illinois was adopted in June 2001.

Authority staff and partner agencies have worked ever since to address the issues raised and to commit resources necessary for accomplishing the numerous goals and objectives. This endeavor has required coordinated planning and collaboration with a broad array of agencies, implementation of specific projects and evaluations to measure program effectiveness, and ongoing research and assessment of criminal justice issues and needs in Illinois.

The Authority is uniquely positioned to develop and spearhead implementation of this plan. The Authority's central mission is to improve the administration of criminal justice in the state. With a board of 20 leaders representing various criminal justice agencies and public interests, the Authority's structure is collaborative in nature. Projects undertaken by the Authority are almost always conducted in conjunction with other state or local agencies.

The organization of Authority staff also benefits the strategic planning effort. Staff carry out the mission of the Authority through three distinct functions: information systems, federal and state grants, and research and analysis. The expertise of Authority staff in each of these areas contributes significantly to carrying out the strategic plan, whether it is promoting the integration of justice information systems, administering federal grants and monitoring the effectiveness of specific programs, or gathering criminal justice data and conducting research to guide the use of resources.

The priority issues identified in the plan point to critical needs in five areas: information systems, collaboration, services, utilization of resources, and accountability. The plan's goals and objectives have been structured around those five areas, although different projects and initiatives may relate to more than one.

The Authority and its partners have undertaken a variety of initiatives to achieve the plan's goals and objectives. Some of the initiatives were already under way before the plan was adopted, such as developing an integrated justice information system that will allow state and local agencies to electronically exchange criminal justice information. Others were launched in response to specific needs or gaps in service identified in the plan, including a collaborative effort establishing the Substance Abuse Monitoring Network to facilitate exchange and analysis of information regarding the nature and extent of drug use, drug abuse, and drug markets in Illinois.

Other strategic efforts initiated or continued in FY02 include:

- Directing resources to victims' programs serving underserved or neglected geographic areas and population groups.
- Emphasizing the need for enhancing services to support the reintegration of offenders into the community. Committing funds to innovative juvenile probation projects for at-risk youths.
- Adopting state-of-the-art assessments and implementation of best practices across all criminal justice agencies to ensure that services match needs.

Federal and state grants

The Federal & State Grants Unit (FSGU) administers grant programs overseen by the Authority. Authorized under the Authority's power to receive and disburse grant money, this responsibility includes assuring compliance with federal and state regulations.

The Authority began administering federal grants in 1985, following the passage of the Justice Assistance Act and the Victims of Crime Act by Congress. Combined, these two programs brought $1.1 million to Illinois. In 2002, 34 staff members administered more than 450 individual grants under eight federal and two state programs, with more than $70 million in disbursements for the fiscal year.

FSGU staff perform a variety of functions in developing, implementing, and monitoring state and local programs while ensuring compliance with numerous federal and state laws and guidelines. These tasks include planning, program development, technical assistance, coordination, and administration.

Anti-Drug Abuse Act

The federal Anti-Drug Abuse Act (ADAA) of 1988, also known as the Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program, supports government programs that enable the enforcement of Illinois drug laws and help decrease violent crime. Illinois received a federal award of $19.5 million under ADAA in FY02, about the same amount received in FY01. Of the 140 programs supported with these funds, 31 were statewide.

A minimum of 65.51 percent of the funds received must be passed through to local units of government and the remainder may be spent by state agencies. ADAA guidelines require that matching funds support at least 25 percent of each funded program's total cost. A federal fiscal year's program funds may be spent over a three-year term in accordance with a detailed strategy prepared every three years. With the exception of multi-jurisdictional drug and gang units and victim service initiatives, projects are funded for a maximum of 48 months. For a list of programs funded by ADAA in FY02, see page 19.

Violence Against Women Act

Congress passed the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) in 1994, and again in 2000.

Among the provisions of the act is a section authorizing grants to states for programs that would improve the response of the criminal justice system to female victims of sexual assault and domestic violence.

As the agency charged with administering VAWA awards in Illinois, the Authority relies on statistical data, public testimony, and surveys of criminal justice and victim service agencies to ensure the most effective distribution of funds. The Authority also based its S.T.O.P. (Service, Training, Officers, Prosecution) Violence Against Women in Illinois program on this information. The program's objectives include:

- Expansion of services to women who are victims of sexual assault or domestic violence.
- Improved training for law enforcement officers and the establishment of protocols for handling sexual assault and domestic violence reports.
- Improved training for prosecutors and the establishment of protocols for handling sexual assault and domestic violence cases.
- Promotion of multidisciplinary training programs for criminal justice agencies and health care systems.

The Authority received $4.9 million in VAWA grant funding in FY02. While this amount was $800,000 more than what was received last year, it was one of the lowest awards received since the program began in fiscal year 1996.

The funds were disbursed during the fiscal year to support 45 programs. The act specifies that states must allocate 25 percent of the funds to law enforcement, 25 percent to prosecution, 30 percent to service providers, and 5 percent

McGruff the Crime Dog crime prevention program

The Authority continued to promote crime prevention with materials featuring McGruff the Crime Dog in FY02. Materials are provided free of charge to law enforcement agencies and the public. A 30-foot inflatable McGruff balloon also is available for use by law enforcement agencies at crime prevention-related events throughout the year.

to the courts. The remaining 15 percent can be allocated at the state's discretion.

Funds have a two-year life span and must be spent in accordance with a plan submitted to the Violence Against Women Office, U.S. Department of Justice. See page 22 for a list of programs funded through VAWA in FY02.

Domestic violence protocol/sexual assault guidelines testing and training

In FY02, VAWA program funds were used to continue the implementation, testing, and evaluation of model protocols and guidelines for responding to victims of domestic violence or sexual assault.

Several counties throughout the state were selected to implement the model protocol for handling domestic violence cases by coordinating the responses of law enforcement officers, prosecutors, service providers, and the judiciary. In other regions, model guidelines have been implemented for responding to victims of sexual assault.

This collaborative effort links law enforcement officers, the state's attorney's office, and victim advocates. The goal is to heighten sensitivity while improving evidence collection, initial response, victim interviews, and victim referrals.

Each program has incorporated training sessions into its development to emphasize the spirit of interagency cooperation, while providing participants with the necessary skills to combat domestic violence and sexual assault.

Victims of Crime Act

The Victims of Crime Act (VOCA), funded with fines paid by offenders convicted of violating federal laws, supports direct services to victims of violent crime. The act requires that priority be given to services for victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, child abuse, and other groups identified by the state as underserved victims of violent crime. Funds may only be used to support direct services to victims of violent crime. Since 1995, states have been allowed to retain up to 5 percent of VOCA funds for administrative purposes.

In FY02 the Authority disbursed more than $10.8 million in VOCA grant funding to 102 victim service providers. These funds supported victim advocacy programs throughout Illinois, including services provided by members of the Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Coalition Against Sexual Assault. Other grants supported services to survivors of homicide victims, victims of drunk driving crashes, and violent crime victims with special needs, such as those with disabilities and the elderly. See page 24 for a list of programs funded through VOCA in FY02.

Juvenile Accountability Incentive Block Grants Program

The Juvenile Accountability Incentive Block Grants (JAIBG) program was enacted in 1998 to promote greater accountability in the juvenile justice system. Program grants support local efforts to reduce juvenile delinquency and crime, and hold young people, their families, and the juvenile justice system accountable for improving the quality of life in every community. In FY02 the Authority disbursed $10.8 million in JAIBG funds. These funds were used to support 111 juvenile justice programs throughout Illinois, and provide 51 equipment grants to state's attorney's offices and probation and court services offices for juvenile court programs.

JAIBG focuses on the development and administration of accountability-based sanctions for juvenile offenders, making funding available to prosecutors to more effectively address drug, gang, and youth violence problems, and estab-

Violent Offender Incarceration and Truth-in-Sentencing grants

The Violent Offender Incarceration and Truth-in-Sentencing Grant Program provided funding to build or expand correctional and juvenile detention facilities. The Authority distributed VOI-TIS grant funds to the following programs between July 1, 2001, and June 30, 2002. Federal funds distributed during the fiscal year may differ from the total award received for each program.

Program	Agency	Federal funds distributed
Stateville Correctional Center VOI/TIS project	Illinois Department of Corrections	$8,988,177
Southwestern Correctional Center VOI/TIS project	Illinois Department of Corrections	$395,000
Juvenile maximum security VOI/TIS project	Illinois Department of Corrections	$8,000,000
Juvenile detention center	Vermilion County	$758,976
Juvenile detention center	Franklin County	$500,000
Menard expansion	Illinois Department of Corrections	$850,000

lishing information-sharing programs that would provide schools, social service centers, and the criminal justice system the tools needed to make informed decisions regarding the treatment and prevention of young criminals.

A minimum of 75 percent of the funds must be allocated to units of local government. Two-thirds of each unit of local government allocation is based on law enforcement expenditure data, and one-third on the average annual number of Uniform Crime Report Part 1 violent crime arrests for the last three calendar years. A unit of local government must qualify for a minimum of $5,000 in order to be eligible to receive an award. JAIBG guidelines require matching funds of 10 percent.

Program areas include:

- Hiring additional prosecutors so that more cases involving violent juvenile offenders can be prosecuted and backlogs reduced.
- Providing technology, equipment and training to assist prosecutors in identifying and expediting the prosecution of violent juveniles.
- Implementing a drug-testing policy for juveniles within certain categories of the criminal justice system.

JAIBG funds support Blueprints for Violence Prevention programming in Illinois. Thoroughly evaluated on a national level and managed by the University of Colorado's Center for the Study and Prevention of Violence, Blueprints have a high probability of success in dealing with at-risk youth. With input from the state Juvenile Crime Enforcement Coalition, the Authority chose six of 10 possible Blueprints, and eight communities received funding for the programs. Funded Blueprints programs include functional family therapy and multisystemic therapy.

See page 27 for a list of programs funded through JAIBG in FY02.

Local Law Enforcement Block Grants Program

The U.S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Assistance makes funds available to units of local government under the Local Law Enforcement Block Grants (LLEBG) program for purposes of reducing crime and improving public safety.

Illinois received $25.5 million in federal funds for this program in FY02. The federal government directly awarded $24.3 million of this amount to units of local government in Illinois according to a formula based on population and violent crime rates.

The governor designated the Authority as the state agency to administer the remaining $1.2 million. Local government agencies that did not qualify for a direct federal award were eligible to apply for these funds, and priority was given to smaller jurisdictions. A request for proposals from police and sheriffs' departments was issued in FY02 to provide equipment funding to local law enforcement agencies. More than 400 proposals were received requesting $6.5 million. The Authority awarded LLEBG funds to 70 jurisdictions in FY02. Of those jurisdictions, 62 served communities with populations of less than 25,000. To further address the need for equipment evidenced by the large number of applications, the Authority awarded Byrne funds which would otherwise be returned to the Department of Justice to 111 additional departments.

For a list of agencies that received LLEBG funding in FY02, see page 31.

National Criminal History Improvement Program

The National Criminal History Improvement Program (NCHIP) was established in 1995 to promote the accuracy, completeness, and timeliness of criminal history records. Funds are used at the state and local levels to improve the quality of criminal history records, or “rap sheets,” which are vital to police, prosecutors, judges, and various government agencies.

The Authority distributed $2.3 million in federal funds to the Illinois State Police for the state’s criminal history improvement program in FY02.

Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program

The Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program provides funding for treatment programs in a correctional setting and is available to the Illinois Department of Corrections.

In FY02, $1,254,756 was distributed to the Illinois Department of Corrections for its Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program.

Enacted in 1994 with funds appropriated in federal fiscal year 1996, the program provides formula grants to correctional agencies to implement treatment programs for state prisoners housed in residential facilities. The act requires that treatment programs meet the following criteria to be eligible for funding:

- Length of treatment must be six to 12 months.
- Offenders must receive treatment services in a residential setting away from the general inmate population.

- The primary focus of the program must be on the substance abuse problems of the inmate, but the program also must develop inmates’ social, cognitive, behavioral, and vocational skills.

In addition, treatment should be limited to offenders who are nearing the end of their incarceration so that they may be released upon completion of the substance abuse program.

Violent Offender Incarceration and Truth-in-Sentencing Grant Program

The Violent Offender Incarceration and Truth-in-Sentencing (VOI-TIS) Grant Program provided funding to states to build or expand correctional and juvenile detention facilities. States also were required to comply with specific conditions to qualify for Truth-In-Sentencing grants, including implementing laws requiring those convicted of the most violent offenses to serve 85 percent of the sentence imposed.

The Authority distributed $19.5 million in VOI-TIS funds during FY02. These funds had a 10 percent cash match requirement and may be spent over a six-year term.

Up to 15 percent of VOI-TIS funds may be used for local juvenile detention facilities. About $11 million in VOI-TIS funds were distributed in FY02 to fund the construction of additional bed space for violent adult and juvenile offenders at state and local levels.

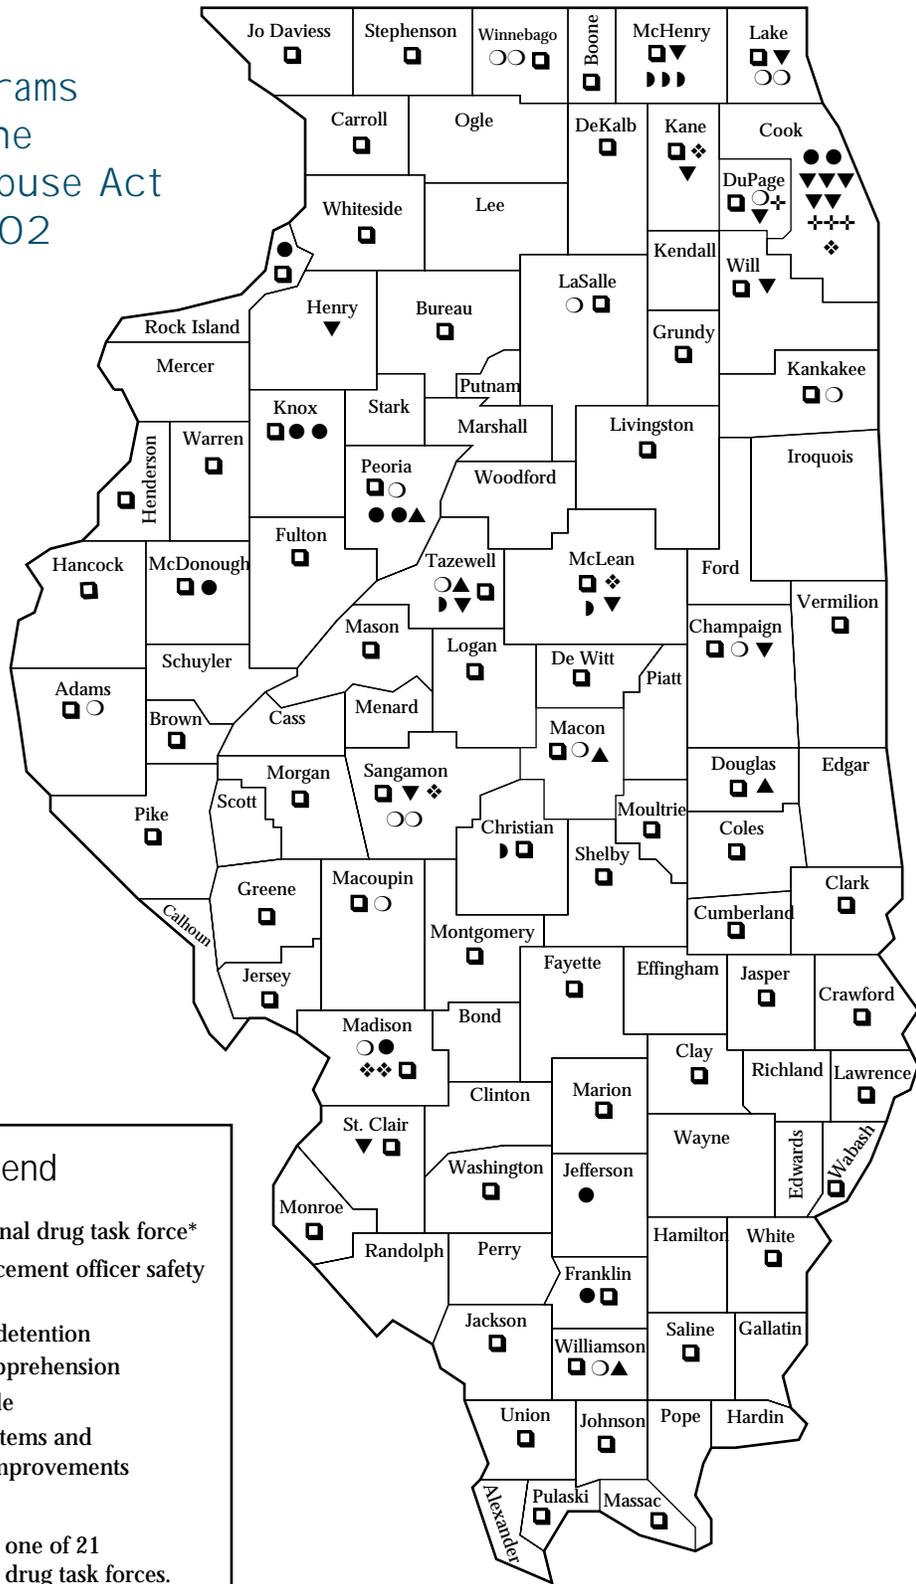

Anti-Drug Abuse Act grants

The Anti-Drug Abuse Act, also known as the Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program, created a federal block grant program designed to help states and local units of government carry out strategies to control drug abuse and violent crime. The Authority distributed ADAA grant funds to the following programs between July 1, 2001, and June 30, 2002. Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council

With the support of the insurance industry, the General Assembly established the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council in 1991 to combat vehicle theft, insurance fraud, and related crimes. The 11-member council is made up of law enforcement and insurance industry officials. Day-to-day work of the Council is carried out by Authority staff.

The Council's responsibilities, as listed in the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Act, include: assessing the scope of motor vehicle theft, particularly in those areas of the state with the highest theft rates; allocating funds made available for the purpose of the act; and developing and implementing strategies to combat motor vehicle theft.

The act requires that insurance companies pay into a special trust fund in the state treasury. Insurance companies licensed to write private passenger comprehensive coverage are required to pay $1 into the fund annually for each vehicle insured in the previous year. Collected and administered by the Council, contributions to the fund totalled $5.9 million in 2002.

The Council allocates grants supporting programs such as special auto theft task forces

Council highlights: 1991 to FY02

Investigations initiated	17,157
Audits of vehicle businesses	28,211
Arrests made	8,004
Convictions obtained	3,604
Vehicles recovered	24,054

and investigative teams, prosecutions, statewide audits of salvage yards, juvenile diversion, statewide public education, officer training, and data analysis. The Council funded 13 programs in FY02.

Vehicle thefts down 14 percent

Since the creation of the Council, reports of motor vehicle theft in Illinois have declined by 14 percent through 2001. The 48,468 vehicles reported stolen in 2001 represented 882 fewer stolen than in the previous year.

Research and analysis

The Authority is responsible for conducting criminal justice research in Illinois, and its Research & Analysis (R&A) Unit handles the majority of the program and policy research conducted. The unit's primary mission is to identify and explore current or emerging criminal and juvenile justice issues that affect the Illinois justice system. The results are then made available to state, county, and local governmental criminal justice decision-makers to assist them in their policy discussions and planning. The R&A unit attempts to make timely and objective information available on key issues by emphasizing short-term projects that address narrow topics, so that important policy, program, and funding decisions are based on data and factual information rather than general perceptions. A number of efforts were under way or concluded in state fiscal year 2002.

Projects to support drug, violent crime, and victim programs

R&A continually collects, analyzes, and disseminates statistical information on the extent and nature of drug and violent crime, and the justice system's response. By working with various agencies responsible for initial data collection, staff have developed what is perhaps the most comprehensive repository of drug- and violent crime-related data in Illinois, as well as a unique and widely recognized expertise in data analysis and interpretation.

R&A encourages and supports community problem assessment and planning by making this data repository available online via CJ DataNet, an interactive database application located on the Authority's website. This application allows visitors to view, graph, and download community crime and arrest data.

The unit also is responsible for a multifaceted evaluation initiative aimed at assessing the implementation and impact of drug and violent crime control programs in Illinois. Evaluation projects supported with federal funds are carried out in-house and through subcontracts

R&A provides a variety of program development support to the Authority's Federal & State Grants Unit. Some of these activities are supported with a grant from the Bureau of Justice Assistance, U.S. Department of Justice. R&A also provides FSGU with research and evaluation support for ADAA, RSAT, VOITIS, VOCA, VAWA, JAIBG, and Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council programs.

Information clearinghouse

The Authority serves as a statewide clearinghouse for statistics and other information about the criminal justice system. In FY02, R&A staff responded to 1,511 requests from people seeking information – an average of 126 calls per month. Most requests for information came from other government agencies (32 percent) and the general public (21 percent). Other requests came from private agencies (22 percent), researchers (11 percent), students (9 percent), media representatives (3 percent), prison inmates (1 percent), and legislators (less than 1 percent).

About 26 percent of the requests originated in Chicago. Nearly 41 percent originated in other parts of the state. All other requests for information were received from outside Illinois.

The Authority distributed 71,158 Authority publications in FY02. Staff received 487 e-mail requests and 255 online orders for these publications during the fiscal year.

The CJ Dispatch automatically notifies registered users via e-mail twice monthly of the site's newest information. The e-mail also contains direct links to new content. By the end of FY02, 969 users had subscribed to the CJ Dispatch, an increase of nearly 35 percent from FY01.

Probation outcome research

In collaboration with the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts and local probation departments, Authority researchers analyzed detailed probationer data on a sample of adults and juveniles discharged from probation during a four-week period in 2000. These data were used to document characteristics, access to treatment services, and recidivism patterns following discharge, and to develop predictive models of probation outcomes. AOIC and local probation departments utilize this information for planning and evaluation, and results have been shared with drug court professionals, substance abuse service providers, and a variety of other practitioners in Illinois.

Prisoner re-entry research

In FY02, the Authority initiated projects examining how individuals released from the Illinois Department of Corrections (IDOC) are reintegrated back into the community, a critical issue facing the criminal justice system. They include:

Reintegration of gang offenders in the community

In collaboration with the DePaul University Department of Sociology, IDOC, and the Attorney General's Gang Crime Prevention Center, a small-scale pilot study of the reintegration process was initiated. The study will be largely qualitative, examining how gang and non-gang offenders reintegrate into their communities of origin.

Recidivism of gang versus non-gang members released from Illinois prisons

The Authority received a grant from the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention through the National Youth Gang Center to study the recidivism of gang and non-gang members released from Illinois prisons.

Returning Home Report

In partnership with The Urban Institute, a study was launched of pre-release policies and practices in IDOC with the goal of advising the Authority on the use of federal grant funds to reduce prisoner recidivism.

Evaluation projects

The following evaluations were under way or concluded in FY02:

Lake County Domestic Violence Probation	Justice Research Associates

Juvenile probation projects in Christian, Peoria, and Winnebago counties	University of Illinois at Springfield

Study of disproportionate minority representation in the Cook County juvenile justice system

Pursuant to a grant from the Illinois Department of Human Services through the Illinois Juvenile Justice Commission, the Authority is studying disproportionate minority representation among juveniles in the Cook County juvenile justice system. Staff collected and analyzed data from various juvenile justice system contact points. Case-level data was also collected on a sample of juveniles to measure the possible influence of specific factors on decisions made as the juveniles are processed through the system. This research can help the commission plan interventions to target this issue. This project will conclude with final reports in 2003.

Evaluation of reforms to the Juvenile Court Act

With funding from the Illinois Juvenile Justice Commission, the Authority completed a complex, multi-level implementation evaluation of changes to the state's Juvenile Court Act. The study involved an investigation of the processes by which individuals and agencies impacted by the act's legislative changes understand the major statutory provisions and the extent to which local implementation efforts are consistent across Illinois. The project utilized three case studies to investigate how restorative justice programming, formal and informal station adjustments, and extended jurisdiction juvenile proceedings in the Juvenile Court Act are implemented, and how these changes affect juveniles, juvenile justice professionals, and victims of juvenile crime. The research is being shared and discussed widely throughout the state.

Intimate partner violence research

The Chicago Women's Health Risk Project is a collaboration of Chicago medical, public health, and criminal justice agencies, and domestic violence experts to identify factors that indicate a significant danger of life-threatening injury or death in situations of intimate partner violence.

By comparing data on abused women with similar data on people who have been killed by an intimate partner, the project helps agencies develop collaborative ways to identify and respond to potentially life-threatening intimate violence situations. This research continues to provide vital information to police officers, clinical staff, and other decision-makers in the field, identifying early warning signs to help these practitioners intervene more effectively on behalf of the victims.

Another study looked at the effects of collective efficacy and community capacity on whether abused women continued to experience violence.

The Chicago Women's Health Risk Project was supported with grants from the National Institute of Justice, the Authority, and other agencies. The risk factors identified by the study have been distributed to service and health care providers, as well as law enforcement officers.

Gun offender research

With a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics and in cooperation with the Illinois State Police's Bureau of Identification, staff continued a study of individuals arrested for gun-related crimes in Illinois. The final report for the Justice Department will be completed in fiscal year 2003 and will describe offender demographics and prior criminal histories.

Drug enforcement research

With a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Assistance, R&A and Loyola University Chicago continued a multi-year study comparing arrests made by multi-jurisdictional drug enforcement units to local police department arrests. The project involves analyses of criminal history records, program data, observations, case files, surveys, and interviews. Detailed statistical profiles of each multi-jurisdictional drug task force were completed, and the research is helping the Authority to direct federal grant funds toward enforcement and prosecution efforts. The final report for the Justice Department will be completed in fiscal year 2003.

Homicide research

The Authority's continuing research on lethal violence serves as a foundation for developing effective intervention strategies. The cornerstone of this effort is the Chicago Homicide Dataset, one of the largest and most detailed ever collected in the U.S. In collaboration with the Chicago Police Department, the dataset contains information on every homicide reported in Chicago between 1965 and 1996. The dataset includes more than 20,000 homicides, with more than 200 variables for each case. The data, with individual identifiers removed, are archived in the National Archives of Criminal Justice Data, and are extensively used by policy planners and analysts from Illinois and other states. Staff continued its effort to update this information with data for years through 2001. Staff is partnering with several external researchers on specialized studies of these data.

Criminal history records research

The Authority established the Criminal History Records Audit Center in 1993 to improve the state's criminal history record information system and ensure compliance with federal mandates for criminal history records. Records are used by criminal justice agencies throughout Illinois to identify and prosecute repeat offenders, as well as for research, employment, and professional licensing purposes. The quality of the records is examined through periodic audits of the computerized criminal history database maintained by the Illinois State Police (ISP).

In FY02, staff examined arrest, submission receipt, and system posting dates of mailed arrest reports to measure the timeliness of reporting. The accuracy of arrest information was analyzed using original arrest data collected from a sample of local law enforcement agencies in comparison with the corresponding arrest data maintained by ISP. Record completeness also was determined using subsequent information available for review in the computerized criminal history database.

In collaboration with ISP, R&A staff also helped facilitate research utilizing criminal

Information systems

The Authority's Information Systems Unit (ISU) is charged with designing, developing, and operating advanced technology that can be used to help Illinois public safety agencies collect and share information. Affordable information systems have been created by ISU to strengthen communication between agencies and help these agencies coordinate their efforts to reduce crime. Without the Authority's support, many smaller agencies could not afford the information systems on which they now rely.

During FY02 ISU provided technical support to agencies throughout Illinois that use information systems developed by the Authority, including the Police Information Management System (PIMS), Area-wide Law Enforcement Radio Terminal System (ALERTS), and Automated Law Enforcement Communications System (ALECS). More than 300 Illinois police agencies participate in and are served by these systems.

Mobile data systems

ALERTS is an in-car computer terminal system for police. The system provides instant access to information in situations where each second counts. During traffic stops, officers can get information about a car and its owner in a matter of seconds on their ALERTS terminals. Getting the same information from a police dispatcher over a two-way radio can take several minutes. In addition to promoting officer safety, ALERTS has proven effective at helping police recover stolen vehicles and arrest individuals wanted for crimes in Illinois and throughout the country.

Implemented for 20 agencies in 1989, ALERTS is the Authority's largest information systems project. A cooperative effort of local law enforcement agencies and the Authority, ALERTS also is one of the largest wireless public safety networks in the U.S.

The Authority develops, operates, and maintains the central computer hardware and telecommunications equipment for ALERTS, which served 299 agencies in FY02. Agencies obtain their own in-car terminals and pay the Authority a fee for system operation and maintenance. This arrangement allows individual agencies to keep their costs down while gaining access to a reliable, cost-effective system.

In FY02 the Authority implemented an enhanced messaging feature to work between ALERTS and the Illinois Wireless Information Network (I-WIN). This enhancement allows I-WIN and ALERTS users to send messages between the two mobile data networks in a fashion similar to instant messaging capability offered by some Internet service providers. The Authority also began researching new wireless local area network technologies that will provide ALERTS users with wireless transmission of field-based reports, network file transfers, e-mail, and images.

For a list of agencies using ALERTS in FY02, see page 39.

Police records management systems

The first Police Information Management System (PIMS) module was installed in 1981 at the Joliet Police Department by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission's Office of Criminal Justice Information Systems. PIMS continues to be the only records management system of its kind in Illinois – providing shared information to more than 50 law enforcement agencies. In FY02 the Authority continued its efforts to update PIMS. The Authority distributed a request for proposals to software developers to design a system that will provide the information handling capabilities of the current PIMS with the most up-to-date database and user interface technologies, and a vendor was selected. The new PIMS product will be web browser-based and will utilize SQL Server 2000 databases. See page 38 for a list of PIMS agencies.

Communication support systems

The Automated Law Enforcement Communications System (ALECS) provides a gateway system to participating law enforcement agencies that allows a connection to the Law Enforcement Agencies Data System (LEADS) and the Authority's ALERTS network. In addition, ALECS provides 911 and unit status displays, and other software for police communication centers that do not have computer-aided dispatch systems.

Integrated justice efforts

The Authority continued its collaborative efforts with Illinois State Police and several other state and local agencies to promote increased integration of justice information systems in Illinois in FY02. Most state and local information systems supporting justice administration in Illinois were built using technologies that are proprietary and not easily integrated. Because of these disparities, criminal justice information often is fragmented and inaccurate, and information processing could be more efficient. Efforts have been initiated in recent years to bridge the gaps between these systems.

The governor issued Executive Order No. 12 (2001) in late 2001 in support of justice information systems integration in Illinois. The Illinois Integrated Justice Information Systems (IIJIS) Board then created working committees to oversee the creation of a strategic plan for integration in Illinois.

A Scenario for Justice Information Sharing in Illinois was created to identify and illustrate the future functions, range of information exchanges, and interactions needed among justice agencies in the state. IIJIS staff then examined current state justice information systems and networks, and convened groups of justice practitioners across the state to determine deficiencies preventing the accomplishment of those data exchanges. In addition, an exchange points analysis was undertaken in Cook County to examine the movement of data from one agency or workgroup to another. Simultaneously, IIJIS staff coordinated their efforts with projects taking place in other states and at the national level, especially regarding the development of standards for the electronic exchange of justice information among justice agencies.

Authority website

The Authority's award-winning website (www.icjia.state.il.us) is a frequent destination of criminal justice professionals, educators, and members of the public. In addition to providing easy access to the latest criminal justice information, the site opens the door to the Authority's three major areas of operation: research, information systems, and federal and state grants. An average of 500 users per day visited the Authority's website in FY02.

The Authority initiated plans to revamp its website in FY02. The redesigned site continues to be a tremendous tool for Internet users in search of community crime statistics, criminal justice research of a state and national scope, or news about state and federal grants.

The Authority's upgraded website conforms to federal and statewide accessibility guidelines. These guidelines specify how web content should be made available to people with physical, sensory, and cognitive disabilities. Emphasis is now placed on providing text-equivalents for non-text images and streamlining the overall site layout so that users using electronic screen readers or speech synthesizers can successfully navigate through the entire website.

CJ DataNet

A popular feature of the Authority's website is the CJ DataNet, a web-based database application which allows website users to research broad issues facing the criminal justice system or simply examine crime trends in a specific Illinois city, county, or regional area. Currently, criminal offense and arrest data from the Illinois State Police uniform crime reporting program are available from 1983 through 1998 on each Illinois county. Users are able to display data in a variety of graphs and tables, and to download data into a spreadsheet for further analysis.

InfoNet data collection system

InfoNet is a state-of-the-art web-based data collection system used by victim service providers across Illinois. Using a web-browser, remote users access a centralized database maintained at the Authority. Data is transmitted between users and the Authority database via a virtual private network that utilizes data encryption to securely transfer data over the Internet.

Almost five years of victim service data reside in InfoNet, including non-identifiable client and service information. Programs also report various interactions that victims and offenders have with the criminal justice system, such as arrest, charge, and order of protection information. In addition, programs document hotline contacts, training sessions, and institutional advocacy services. InfoNet also includes a comprehensive set of reporting tools that facilitate program-level data mining and analysis.

The development and implementation of InfoNet was a collaborative effort between the Authority, the Illinois Coalition Against Domestic Violence (ICADV), and the Illinois Coalition Against Sexual Assault (ICASA). During FY02, InfoNet was used by 31 ICASA programs and 51 ICADV programs, which accessed InfoNet from more than 120 sites throughout the state. The Authority also began collaborating with the Children's Advocacy Centers of Illinois to identify data collection and reporting require-

Technical assistance

Also during FY02, the Authority provided significant technical assistance to the Governor's Capital Punishment Commission on a special analysis of capital cases in Illinois. Staff helped the commission's researchers link

Chicago Homicide Dataset data to information maintained by the Illinois Department of Corrections utilizing criminal history record information and information obtained via the Law Enforcement Agencies Data System (LEADS). Staff also coordinated the use of three focus groups of homicide victim survivors to help develop a report for the commission from this community.
