

NOVEMBER 2, 2018 | 12PM - 1:30PM

NARCOTICA

INVESTIGATIVE JOURNALISM ON PUBLIC HEALTH AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Bring your lunch and join us for a free event to hear from freelance journalist Zach Siegel. Zach is a journalism fellow at Northeastern University Law School's Health in Justice Initiative and a 2018 Guggenheim Justice Reporting Fellow at John Jay College of Criminal Justice at the City University of New York. His work has been featured in Slate, New York Times Magazine, VICE, Salon, MIT's Undark Magazine, and Huffington Post. Zach is also currently the co-host of the podcast Narcotica. Learn about his work and thoughts on journalism and its role in reporting on the nexus between public health and criminal justice, including substance use and mental health.

Hosted by ICJIA

300 W. Adams St. , 2nd Floor Bldg Conf. Rm, Chicago

To register: <https://bit.ly/2RmMVR8>

Questions? Contact Lily Gleicher, Research Analyst, Center for Justice Research and Evaluation, ICJIA
lily.gleicher@illinois.gov